Other Scores

This assessment focuses on the likelihood of Mike's sales success in this particular selling role at your company. We also suggest whether Mike has strong Will to Sell and is coachable, and provide guidance as to the areas in which Mike may require help during the onboarding process. While this is an important component of the selection process, it is only one component. This assessment does not measure intelligence, technical knowledge, self-presentation, or appearance. This is not a personality test or a behavioral styles assessment. While assessments of that nature are perfectly well designed for general employment purposes, they are not predictive of sales success and we do not recommend their use in the sales selection process. Our assessment will uncover sales issues that were likely hidden from view, even in a fairly comprehensive series of interviews. Therefore, our recommendations should be considered accordingly. Explanations for most of our findings can be found by clicking on the camera icons on the previous page.

DO WE RECOMMEND YOU INTERVIEW MIKE?

Mike is recommended for an interview because Mike meets OMG's requirements as well as all of the requirements from your role specification.

Even when a candidate is recommended or worthy of an interview, it is critical that you have a formal ramp up plan, strong sales management and success measurements that ensures the success of all new hires. Make sure that Mike is willing to overcome the need for approval.

HOW CONFIDENT ARE WE IN OUR RECOMMENDATION?

One of the questions that clients sometimes ask is, "Can I trust that Mike didn't 'fool the test'?" Despite a predictive validity in the 95 percent range, clients often wonder if their candidate falls into that scary 5% range. Our Scoring Confidence should help you determine whether or not you can trust the honesty and consistency of Mike's answers. Each candidate is assigned a confidence rating of High Confidence, Moderate Confidence, Low Confidence, or No Confidence, based on how he or she answered the questions in the assessment.

We compiled scores in several separate categories, including Congruency (candidate's consistency in answering carefully selected sets of questions), time spent completing the questionnaire, the number of breaks taken while answering the questionnaire, whether the individual's experience is appropriate for his or her tenure in sales, and whether the individual has taken a free trial or requested samples from us.

High Confidence

A high Confidence Score on Mike's assessment indicates that we are confident in Mike's answers.

Among the assessment questions, we have identified one set of inconsistent answers. We have included questions related to this in the interviewing tips section of this assessment.

WHAT IS THE LONGEVITY PREDICTION FOR THIS CANDIDATE?

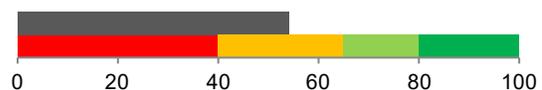

Today, turnover is inevitable and when you consider the unique dynamic of the odds of a salesperson succeeding, the risk of expensive turnover increases dramatically. It is important for a company to know its New Salesperson Return on Investment (NSROI). NSROI answers the question of how long a new salesperson must remain with a company in order for the investment of time and money to produce an acceptable return and for the salesperson to have an impact.

When you completed the Role Specification for this assessment you provided the Ramp Up, Margin and Subsidy information needed to calculate the NSROI for this position. The results are shown in the table below.

	Default Values	This Candidate
Ramp Up Time	1 year 2 months	1 year 2 months
Break Even	2 years 3 months	2 years 3 months
NSROI (5x)	7 years 8 months	7 years 8 months

The reason that the candidate's ramp up, break even and NSROI durations are similar to the default values is that this candidate has a Figure-It-Out Factor™ within our expectations for a typical learning curve.

Unlikely

Five factors contribute to our longevity prediction. Each factor supports or detracts from the likelihood that a candidate will stay long enough to make the NSROI timeframe. Below is a description of how each of those factors contributes to the overall longevity prediction.

- The candidate's Ramp-Up Skills are within the range that supports longevity.
- The Sales Quotient™ is well outside the range that supports longevity.
- The candidate's years in sales are in the range that supports longevity.
- Your profile calls for closely managing the salesperson which supports longevity.
- Your compensation plan does not support longevity.

WHAT SHOULD YOU ASK MIKE DURING THE INTERVIEW?

We don't advocate interviewing candidates who are not recommended although some managers do this anyway. If you are interviewing such a candidate, use the following interviewing tips to validate Mike's weaknesses. In time, you'll learn to accept the findings at face value without taking the time to conduct an unnecessary interview.

Ask if Mike likes people. From a sales perspective, ask which is more important, making someone happy or getting the business. You'll probably hear either "both" or "making someone happy." This demonstrates need for approval.

Inquire about past or present professional sales training that might account for the high number of positive findings.

Inquire about past selling successes that would support the strong test results.

Ask what Mike thought about the test and listen for any clues that would lead you to believe that Mike "figured it out."

Speak with immediate past employer to verify that performance was exceptional. If you learn that Mike's performance was not exceptional, there is a possibility that the test results for this candidate may not be accurate.

Ask "Why do customers like you?" (Need for Approval)

Ask "Why do customers trust you?" (Need for Approval)

Ask "What could you do to have customers like and trust you more?" (Need for Approval)

In your previous job, much of the business was either call-in or residual yet you hit your numbers. How will you hit your numbers when none of the business comes to you and you have to find the new business yourself?

Check the resume to determine if there is a correlation between the typical tenure at past employers and the low likelihood of being able to retain Mike.

Ask how Mike challenges prospects who want him/her to "call back," given that Mike indicated that there aren't any think it overs and that he/she doesn't make follow up calls.

WHAT ARE MIKE'S CURRENT SALES CAPABILITIES?

Mike's current sales capabilities can be best illustrated by reviewing the graph below.

The graph tells a story that suggests the following capabilities:

Hunting - Mike has the attributes necessary for consistent, effective hunting.

Consultative Selling - Mike has most of the attributes required for selling consultatively.

Selling Value - Mike has most of the attributes required for selling value.

Qualifying - Mike has the attributes for effective qualifying.

Presenting - Presentation skills are fair.

Closing -Mike has very few of the attributes required for consistent, effective closing. Use this assessment to develop a better understanding of the attribute.

Selling Competencies

We looked at seven Competencies in all to determine the percentage of attributes in each:

- Hunting
- Consultative Selling
- Qualifying
- Closing
- Account Management
- Farming
- Sales Posturing

The details of those Competencies are found in other sections of this document where they were used to support our answers and findings. The explanations appear prior to each detailed Competency and provide you with a greater understanding of their meaning.

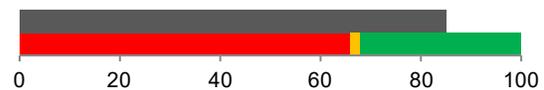

As we present our data-supported findings and continue answering these important questions, the Competencies will be a consistent part of those answers. While there is much more to sales and selling than skills - strategies and tactics - they do represent 50% of the equation. The other 50% is represented by Sales DNA that must support the use of those skills.

It is very important to understand that salespeople with the right Sales DNA but few skills will always outperform salespeople with good skills but less than desirable Sales DNA.

Sales DNA

As we mentioned earlier, sales skills are not the only factors that determine sales capabilities. The overall level of Sales DNA is even more important. When strong, Sales DNA supports a salesperson's ability to execute. Less than desirable Sales DNA hinders the ability to execute skills and process. Sales DNA includes all of Mike's selling-related strengths. Mike's Sales DNA Score, shown below, is comprised of six major strengths that have the greatest impact on sales call performance. Lower numbers represent Sales DNA that will impede a salesperson's performance.

85%

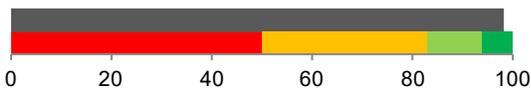

This score suggests that the Sales DNA will have a positive impact on sales effectiveness.

Sales Percentile™

Think of Sales Percentile™ as the overall score on this assessment. It represents a weighted combination of our Sales Core Competencies, expressed relative to the other salespeople we have assessed. A Sales Percentile™ of 90% means that 90% of salespeople we have assessed are weaker, and 10% are stronger.

Only 6% of all salespeople land in the top category – Elite. Another 11% appear in the next category – Strong. 33% of salespeople fall into the Serviceable category. The bottom 50% of salespeople are generally Weak.

Summary of Selling Capabilities

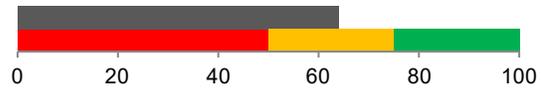

We have analyzed:

- The specific Competencies
- Sales DNA
- The use and/or execution of a sales process (which appears later in this assessment)

Together, these three elements are the primary sources for determining current sales capabilities.

The overall sales capability score is

64%

The overall sales capability represents how close Mike is to the fullest sales potential. Overall, Mike's selling capability is fair. Sales coaching, along with the appropriate sales training to improve skills and overcome weaknesses, will improve Mike's selling capability over time.

HOW MOTIVATED IS MIKE AND HOW CAN MIKE BE MOTIVATED?

Motivation is as important as ever but today's salesperson is not necessarily motivated by money. Motivation can appear as Intrinsic, Extrinsic, and/or Altruistic.

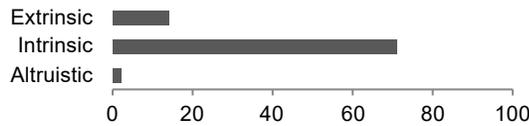

Intrinsics tend to be motivated by recognition, fulfillment, satisfaction, enjoyment, love of selling, mastery, or even when they have something to prove to others. They are often more consistent in a longer and more complex sales cycle.

Extrinsics tend to be motivated by money, rewards, toys, vacations, and material things. They are more effective in a shorter and/or more heavily commissioned sales cycle.

Altruistic salespeople are motivated to serve others at a cost to themselves. These salespeople put the customer ahead of their company's needs and requirements.

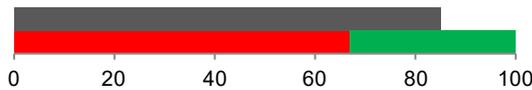

Mike's motivation style is:

Intrinsic

Mike's overall level of motivation is:

85%

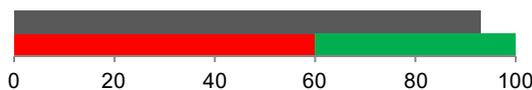

Mike may be driven by pride, satisfaction, mastery, achievement, competition, enjoyment, or recognition and could even be motivated to prove others wrong about what could be accomplished.

Desire

Strong Desire for greater sales success.

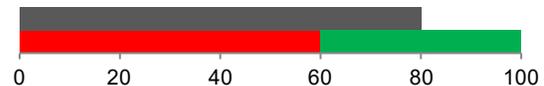

93%

Commitment

Strong Commitment towards greater sales success.

Motivational Tendencies

Everyone responds differently to motivation so we thought you might find it useful to learn what Mike will respond to.

Mike prefers

Loving to win more than hating to lose
Self-rewarding performance instead of spending money first to create pressure to perform
Self-pressure instead of being pressured
Self-management instead of being closely managed
Self-competition over competing against others
Satisfaction over recognition

Other Factors

There are several additional important factors that impact overall motivation. While these factors do not influence our recommendation, they are important enough for you to make them conditions that must be met if you choose to offer Mike a position.

WILL MIKE GENERATE NEW BUSINESS?

The Hunting Competency contains the attributes required for successful development of new business. While the overall percentage in this Competency is meaningful, it is less important than certain individual attributes.

Specifically, it is important for salespeople to possess these attributes:

- Prospects Consistently
- Will Prospect
- Has No Need for Approval
- Recovers from Rejection
- Maintains a Full Pipeline

Not a Perfectionist - This may seem like a negative but in the case of hunting, some perfectionists seriously delay making calls until they believe the calls can be perfect.

WILL MIKE REACH DECISION MAKERS?

We looked at a number of factors to determine whether Mike is meeting with decision makers and what, if anything, could interfere with that.

The Reaching Decision-Makers Competency

Weighted Score	35%

Mike still has some room for improvement before mastering the ability to reach decision-makers, but some of the necessary strengths and skills are in place to support the approach. Over time, and when combined with other incremental improvements, developing the ability to achieve this milestone can shorten sales cycles, eliminate competition, increase win-rates and help identify the compelling reasons to buy. Advanced selling skills around strategy and tactics should help Mike reach decision makers more consistently.

I have to call on buyers before I can call on end users or decision-makers

WILL MIKE HAVE AN OPTIMIZED SALES CYCLE?

To answer this question we looked at 11 factors that historically support shorter sales cycles. These factors tend to prevent delayed closings and business lost to competitors. We present the 11 factors as they apply to Mike in the next table.

- Makes Decisions – Salespeople that make buying decisions without having to think it over have Sales DNA that supports strategies and tactics to help their prospects make decisions.
- Consultative Selling – If salespeople can sell consultatively they can uncover the compelling reason to buy, a motivator that creates urgency and shortens the sales cycle.
- Qualifying – If salespeople qualify thoroughly there will be fewer opportunities for premature demos, quotes, proposals, and presentations that lead to delayed closings and lost business.
- Won't Accept Put-Offs – The ability to ask a question in response to a put-off can lead to closing more business at the first closing opportunity.
- Doesn't Need to be Liked – A salesperson that doesn't need to be liked accepts fewer put-offs because they aren't concerned about asking another question, pushing back, or challenging the prospect.
- Controls Emotions – If salespeople do not panic in the heat of battle or become too excited when they hear what they want to hear, they can control the sales process more effectively.
- Able to Discuss Money – When salespeople are able to discuss finances they are more likely to uncover the actual budget and confirm the prospect's ability to spend it. That tends to prevent most of the delays blamed on money.
- Rejection Proof – When salespeople are unaffected by rejection they are more likely to ask good, tough, timely questions, even when the answer could result in a "no."
- Healthy Skepticism – When salespeople have a healthy skepticism, they can avoid happy ears, not mistake put-offs for promises, and have much better sense for determining realistic expectations.
- Supportive Beliefs – When salespeople have beliefs that support ideal sales outcomes they are more successful.
- Effective Sales Process – When the sales process lends itself to repeatable and desirable results, sales cycles tend to be much shorter while conversion ratios tend to be much higher.

CAN MIKE SELL CONSULTATIVELY?

Consultative Selling

Selling has changed dramatically since 2008. The biggest changes are that:

- It's more difficult to reach prospects
- Prospects do not have time to meet
- There is much greater resistance
- Salespeople tend to be invited in later in the sales cycle
- There is far more price sensitivity
- Prospects are more cautious and conservative on what they spend their money
- There is greater need to differentiate

Consultative Selling is an approach that helps salespeople deal with the issues listed above. It is the most misunderstood term in all of sales with most people believing that a salesperson must ask questions, identify an issue and present a solution. This isn't entirely wrong, but it does fall short of the intended meaning, and most salespeople aren't actually selling this way. Instead, they have some prepared questions, ask some of them, and when a question leads to an issue, they begin to talk about a solution.

When Consultative Selling is properly executed it can help a salesperson differentiate, sell value, and sometimes be viewed as a Trusted Advisor. This can only occur after a salesperson has asked enough questions (dozens) to go as wide and deep as possible, leading to a discussion of issues, opportunities, implications, the people they affect, and potential outcomes. As much as consultative selling relies on highly developed questioning skills, equally well-developed listening skills are an even more important component.

Summary

Mike has more attributes in place for consultative selling than we usually observe. While there is still room for improvement, it lays a nice foundation, and with the aid of advanced selling skills training and coaching, Mike will be able to master the consultative approach.

Mike believes that
It's not OK to confront a prospect

WILL MIKE SELL VALUE?

When salespeople feel that they need a more competitive price or the lowest price in order to win the business, the chances are quite good that they aren't effectively selling the value. In order to determine whether this candidate can more effectively sell value, we looked at a number of factors, including:

- Learns Why Prospects Will Buy – A salesperson's ability to uncover a prospect's reasons to buy helps the salesperson discover the true value in the opportunity.
- Focused on Value over Price – When salespeople buy value rather than seek out the lowest price they are more likely to be effective at selling value. Salespeople who are price shoppers have the most difficulty upholding margins, creating and selling value, and competing against lower priced competitors.
- Comfortable Discussing Money – When a salesperson is uncomfortable having a financial discussion, it may have a significant, negative impact on any opportunity when the prospect lacks the funding or doesn't see the value in the offering.
- High Threshold for Money – A salesperson with a High Money Threshold should be able to ask for a lot of money (not to be confused with Able to Discuss Money) without concern for the amount being "a lot" to them personally.

WILL MIKE CLOSE EFFECTIVELY?

The Closing Competency

The Closing Competency helps us to understand whether or not Mike has the attributes that will help to convert qualified opportunities at the time they become closable. Some opportunities close later than expected because they were not closed at the first closing opportunity.

While the Closing Competency explains what Mike is capable of accomplishing at closing time, closing has much more to do with factors that precede the closing step of the sales process, most of which we have already discussed:

- Consultative selling skills
- Qualifying Skills
- Sales process (later in the document)
- Sales Posturing Skills (See the next table for the details)

Sales Posturing

Although sales effectiveness is typically measured by revenue, there is more to selling than the end result. All too frequently the end result is simply a sum of its parts, a bi-product of a salesperson's motivation, determination, strengths, skills, competencies, strategies, tactics and posturing.

The next table shows the qualities that support effective posturing and whether Mike is able to effectively position your products, services, and company and make a memorable first impression.

A yellow flag indicates that Mike is neither strong nor weak in that particular quality.

Presenting

We look at presenting in a way that might be different from how you have historically viewed it. Today's modern salesperson should sell consultatively and present solutions to fully qualified prospects. Most salespeople fail to do that, presenting far too early in the sales process. The following table shows whether or not Mike is presenting at the right time, to the right people, and for the right reasons. We also show whether or not Mike is overly presentation-minded by identifying Mike's presentation tendencies, or the degree to which Mike relies on presentations to sell.

DOES MIKE FOLLOW AN EFFECTIVE SALES PROCESS?

It is of the utmost importance to have a customized, milestone-centric sales process. Without it, so much time can be wasted with a given prospect in a particular sales cycle when crucial milestones are unknowingly skipped. An effective process assures consistent, favorable outcomes and generally prevents salespeople from wasting their valuable time on opportunities that are unlikely to close, especially when sales cycles are long. Without a doubt, a powerful sales process with clearly defined milestones provides more consistent, predictable and profitable results.

WILL MIKE'S SALES FORECASTS BE ACCURATE?

The pipeline is a commonly used term for the flow of opportunities being pursued by you. New opportunities enter the pipeline and sold or lost opportunities exit the pipeline. It is a very simple concept with major implications. The pipeline can be represented as a useless spreadsheet or it can be the single most important predictor of success in the entire business.

If the pipeline is the most important predictor of future business success, then how does Mike measure up in that area?

The Qualifying Competency helps us to understand how thoroughly Mike qualifies opportunities. Here, the percentage is an accurate guide to how well, how often and how effectively Mike is qualifying. Remember, this Competency has a tremendous impact on the accuracy of the pipeline and forecast.
